II. PUBLIC COMMENT: (3 minutes per person)

- John Lepkowski: concerned that the library does not listen to the public. He wants the books Prison School, Finder, and one other series put in a locked space and marked must be 18 years of age to check out. Dictatorial and Marxist people on The Board. They are sexualizing children.
- ii. Trish O'Grady: Explained her actions at the Silt Library. "Ticked off" that an employee was wearing a shirt with "Read with Pride" on the front. She says it violates our own employee handbook. She said she could have acted more appropriately. Trish apologized to Brenda. Trish suggests that we do more veterans programs.
- iii. Mike Watts: here to address the books in question with a commonsense approach. Feels the artwork targets bondage and assault on children by adults. He is against the stickers on the books as it identifies these books to children. Proponents of the books cite the First Amendment. No one wants to ban books and simply keep them locked up. Even if you cite the First Amendment you cannot incite poor behavior.

III. APPROVAL OF THE AGENDA

A. Move to approve the agenda by John Mallonee, seconded by Michelle Foster. Motion passed.

IV. CONSENT ITEMS FOR APPROVAL

V. ACTION ITEMS

- A. Flexible Spending Account (FSA) and FSA COBRA vendor approval, Kim Owens (pp. 10-18)
 - i. Kim recommends that we change our Flexible Spending Account (FSA) and FSA COBRA service vendor to iSolved.
 - ii. Motion to approve made by Michelle Foster, seconded by Crystal Mariscal. Motion passed.
- B. Appoint Adrian Rippy-Sheehy for a second full term to the Library Board of Trustees.
 - i. Motion to approve made by Susan Use, seconded by Michelle Foster. Motion passed.

VI. DISCUSSION ITEMS

- A. Management Report, Jamie LaRue (pp 19-23)
 - i. CALCON is a board notification since three or more board members will be attending.
 - ii Addressing long-term housing with outside agencies.
 - iii Mover and Shakers program. Community concerns and needs in the future, 18 months. Aspirations for the community. Adrian would like to morph the "Did you know" section into addressing the community and their needs. Have a community member address their concerns at the library meeting.
- B. Long-term housing solutions, Jamie LaRue, Kevin Hettler
 - i. Jamie addresses the handout that is included in the board packet. We have lost an employee due to housing issues. The handout provides options that the library can enact to assist employees with housing issues.
 - ii. Short Term solutions:
 - 1. Assist with moving costs
 - 2. Housing subsidy for transitioning housing (renting a condo/apartment) Using money already in our budget for this assistance.
 - 3. Hotel rooms
 - iii. Long term:
 - 1. Habitat for Humanity $100,000.00 donation from the foundation and the employee assumes the mortgage.
 - 2. Purchase real estate to rent it to an un-housed employee/Foundation investment Need rules for who would benefit from these solutions.

This is not a one-year problem or solution this problem is here to stay.

We need to come up with ideas that are more long-term to assist our employees.

Purchasing a property is a substantial change for the Library, they become property owners.

C. Colorado FAMLI medical leave replacement options, Kim Owens

Update on FAMLI: we are exploring two options. We received three bids from providers.

Draft of the internal plan. Key points are the level of service to the employee, payment amount made to the employee, and the ease of administration of the plans. Hopefully will have a proposal for the recommended plan in either November or December.

*John asked about the result of the education disbursement monies. The tuition reimbursements requested were lower than anticipated. We are looking forward to adjusting the process. Getting the word out that this program is available.

D. Budget Committee presenting the 2024 budget draft, John Mallonee

John Mallonee reviewed the budget draft that was included in the board packet. Draft budget showing property tax revenues up. But we cannot count on them for 2025. Inflation adjustments are made throughout the entire budget. Including a 4% cost of living compensation adjustment. A 4% pay-for-performance wage pool is also included. With significant increases in Library collections, additional employee costs are also included in the budget. Two limited-duration staffing positions are also included in 2024. Short-term housing commitments and education assistance remain in the 2024 budget. Investments in facility improvements remain in the 2024 budget.

E. Finance Report, Kevin Hettler (pp.24-32)

As a result of the education assistance funding, we had an employee who was able to pay off their student loan today, many thanks to the Board. Introducing our new Accountant Jackie Skala to the Board. Sales tax continues to tick up, it is up 11% year to date. We are being conservative with sales tax estimates to ensure we are covered if it eventually drops off. Proposition HH is on the ballot, the state has mailed the Blue Book with ballot information. The 2024 draft budget includes the impact of Proposition HH passing.

F. Rifle Branch Library report, Amy Tonozzi

Melissa Wiley serving as an interim Circulation Coordinator.

Maria is now in a full-time position. (40 hours, filling in as a coordinator) Sierra used to attend Amy's story times. (She volunteered growing up and in high school was a page) Sindia, is a positive new employee. Karina Baker was awarded Colorado Libraries for Early Literacy (CLEL) Rising Star Award!!! Two new Pages. Fully Staffed.

Forged new relationships:

Discovery Café

Great Expectations

English classes with childcare

Conversation circle twice monthly

Bee mural and reception

Second annual Spanish Heritage program (Crystal emceed)

Jorge and Andres programs have grown (Teen Tech, Anime Club)

Stats have increased.

Merchandising is working.

G. "Did You Know," Hanna Arauza, Board of Trustees candidate.

Hanna shared her "Love Letter to the Library" letter of intent to the Board.

Next Board Meeting November 2, 2023, 2 pm, Location: Silt Branch Library, 680 Home Ave.

Management Report, September 2023

Jamie LaRue, Executive Director

Community interview update

Nancy Barnes (Branch Library Director) will no doubt update the board, but I'm impressed with the number of interviews that have already taken place. I'm also pleased that so many of our staff are able to participate in this effort.

CALCON

Many thanks to Adrian, Jocelyn, Sue, and John for their attendance at the CALCON in October. I believe that over 50 trustees showed up for various Trustee Track programs, and I appreciate your willingness to try to stay abreast of the many programmatic issues, legal concerns, and emerging trends.

Censorship in the news

Our Freedom to Read Forum, held on the evening of October 18, 2023, at the Ute Theater, was well attended. My thanks to James Larson and Alex Garcia-Bernal for publicity and logistics. There were roughly 130 attendees, and I believe we managed to allow almost all of the public who wished to speak a chance to do so. We did not require any sign-in process. We simply placed two signs, one by each distinct microphone: "More restrictions" and "Broad access." The latter outnumbered the former by at least four to one. Rifle TV made videos, and I hope to make them more accessible soon. Our moderator, Raleigh Burleigh of the Sopris Sun, was gracious, polite, and firm. The event overall maintained decorum and respect.

I'm attaching my prepared remarks from my 20-minute introduction to the session. It's a little long, but I think it's a good idea to preserve the content. While I may have improvised a little, this was my attempt to provide library context for the evening. Slide content is in italics. My remarks follow in plain text.

Introduction

- Thank you so much for being here this evening. Before we listen to community comments, I wanted to do something that happens too seldom in public discourse today. I want to give some historical context. I want to talk about the meaning of an institution in public life.
- First, I'll briefly review the foundations of the public library in the US Constitution, Supreme Court decisions and Colorado law. Then I'll talk about some specific policies adopted by Garfield County Libraries. Finally, I'll give an update on the status of two recently challenged series. Then I'll pass this over to our moderator, Raleigh Burleigh, editor of the Sopris Sun.

First, let's talk about the establishment of the public library.

The First Amendment to the United States Constitution prevents the government from making laws that: regulate an establishment of religion; prohibit the free exercise of religion; abridge the freedom of speech, the freedom of the press, the freedom of assembly, or the right to petition the government for redress of grievances.

The library is a unit of government, specifically, the state government. Our purpose is squarely centered on the freedom of speech: the right of the people, all people, to express themselves.

SCOTUS and Colorado Law

Pico: "The right to receive ideas is a necessary predicate to the recipient's meaningful exercise of his own rights of speech, press, and political freedom." Students have First Amendment Rights.

Island Trees: "Local school boards may not remove books from school library shelves simply because they dislike the ideas contained in those books."

CRS 24-90-102. Legislative declaration. The general assembly hereby declares that it is the policy of this state, as a part of its provision for public education, to promote the establishment and development of all types of publicly-supported free library service throughout the state to ensure equal access to information without regard to age, physical or mental health, place of residence, or economic status...

- SCOTUS, the Supreme Court of the United States, has interpreted the First Amendment as not just the right to speak—but the right to access the speech of others.
- In two frequently cited cases, even students have the right to participate in and access speech, press, and political information.
- And local school (and library) boards can't remove things or place onerous restrictions on content just because they don't like it.
- In Colorado law, libraries are established as a public good, intended to assure equal access to information for everyone.

Policy

"Today indications in many parts of the world point to growing intolerance, suppression of free speech and censorship affecting the rights of minorities and individuals."

- Forrest Spaulding, 1938
- In 1938, in Des Moines, IA, two library titles were challenged: Mein Kampf by Hitler (because it was "foreign") and the Grapes of Wrath by Steinbeck (because it was both "communist" and "pornographic"). Director Forrest Spaulding then introduced his "A Library's Bill of Rights to the American Library Association in 1939, in part in response to the rise of authoritarianism around the world. Then, Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini. Today, Putin, Erdogan, Xi, and many others.

The Library Bill of Rights

I.Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.

II.Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.

III.Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.

IV.Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.

V.A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.

- VI.Libraries that make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or aroups requesting their use.
- VII.All people, regardless of origin, age, background, or views, possess a right to privacy and confidentiality in their library use. Libraries should advocate for, educate about, and protect people's privacy, safeguarding all library use data, including personally identifiable information.
 - I won't read all of this. The key parts are the bold sections: we gather materials from everywhere, to help our residents investigate and understand the world around them.
 - And we are committed to serving everyone.

- There has been a sharp rise in the number of attempts to ban or restrict library materials in the US.
- Usually, the claim is that challenged books are just about sex. More often, they're about LGBTQ folks and people of color.
- In my view, libraries hold a mirror to our culture. We track social change. About 3% of our collection these days represent voices that were previously marginalized in our society, and in our libraries. 97% represents the voices that dominated American publishing: mostly white straight folks.
- That's the focus of most of the challenges, both from the conservative right--which wants us to fend off those new voices--and from the liberal left, which wants us to expand them, and while we're about it, go back and purge the older and less enlightened books.
- But libraries are supposed to resist censorship from either side.

Three more core policies

Materials Selection

- Broadest possible selection
- Issues of the day
- Selection is not banning.
- We buy what is...
 - Published
 - Well-reviewed OR
 - Requested

Request for Reconsideration

- Written request
- Committee to review in entirety.
- Recommendation to keep, reclassify, remove.
- Director decision
- Written Board appeal

Patron Cards

- No card
- No media (movies, CD, video games)
- 1 item at a time
- Digital services only
- Staff not responsible for limiting use. Parents may oversee their children's reading—but only their own.
- "GCPLD provides a diverse and varied collection of materials and resources designed to help patrons of all ages meet their educational, informational, professional, and recreational needs through a variety of formats."
- We buy what is published. 5 big publishers, accounting for over 85% of what you see in libraries and bookstores. They publish what they believe will sell, so they have an audience.
- What is well-reviewed by experienced librarians who know what their patrons check out, recommended for all, some, or no academic, public, or school libraries.
- What is requested by our patrons? Even if 2 libraries start out the same, they quickly change to reflect what local folks ask for.
- You may not agree with individual policies. But these were all in place when I got here, and are common throughout the United States, and under its own bylaws, the board must follow them. So do I and so do our staff.

The Facts: Finder and Prison School

- Manga, a popular Japanese style of illustrated storytelling. "Graphic novel" doesn't mean "sexy."
 It just means it has drawings, like superhero comics. Most manga are for younger audiences and have simple storylines.
- Both challenged titles are cataloged as "Adult." Shelved far from the children's area.
- An adult patron requested both well over a year ago.
- Both carry labels by publisher indicating "adult content."
- We added red stripes on the spines to tell staff not to shelve them with children's or young adult graphic novels.

Both do have sexual content. But they are not "obscene" or "child pornography." (See next slide.)

Definitions

Child pornography is illegal. But must either involve the sexual abuse of actual children, or illustrations indistinguishable from photographs.

Obscenity: must meet a three-part ("Miller") test, developed in 1973. Thus far, only the court can make this finding, and even Supreme Court Justices don't agree with each other.

No findings of obscenity of library books since that time.

Challenge status

- Both series were reviewed by a committee of 6 staff members, representing all branches. They read the whole book, not just looked at pictures.
- Both received recommendations to retain it as currently cataloged and placed.
- That decision was appealed on September 7. The board has 60 days to respond. They are listening closely to public comment today and consulting legal counsel. Will make their decision by or before November 2.

Finally, I highlighted the logo of a new service, Biblioboard, which is a platform for local self-publishing. I said, "If you don't like a book you see in the library, write a better one. Let's move from being just consumers to being creators."

NOTE: For illustration purposes only, actual results will vary

As a result of Colorado Senate Bill 23-303, the November 7, 2023 ballot measure HH reads as follows:

SHALL THE STATE REDUCE PROPERTY TAXES FOR HOMES AND BUSINESSES, INCLUDING EXPANDING PROPERTY TAX RELIEF FOR SENIORS, AND BACKFILL COUNTIES, WATER DISTRICTS, FIRE DISTRICTS, AMBULANCE AND HOSPITAL DISTRICTS, AND OTHER LOCAL GOVERNMENTS AND FUND SCHOOL DISTRICTS BY USING A PORTION OF THE STATE SURPLUS UP TO THE PROPOSITION HH CAP AS DEFINED IN THIS MEASURE?

Colorado Proposition HH, the Property Tax Changes and Revenue Change Measure, is on the ballot in Colorado as a legislatively referred state statute on November 7, 2023.

A "yes" vote supports making various changes to state property taxes and revenue limits, including:

- reduce property tax rates;
- allow the state to retain and spend revenues that it would otherwise be required to refund to residents under the Colorado Taxpayer's Bill of Rights (TABOR), to give local governments to make up for decreased tax revenues;
- create a limit on local government property tax revenue; and
- create a new cap on state revenue, allowing the state to retain revenue up to the newly created cap.

A "no" vote opposes making changes to property taxes and state revenue limits.

Human Resources Report, October 2023

By Kim Owens, HR Director

At the October Board Meeting, there were several questions about the 2023 Education Assistance Program, and I want to show the Board more details about this important employee benefit.

We were able to support the education of eleven of our staff members, which represents nearly 19% of our eligible staff.

Staff have attended multiple conferences and workshops over the last couple of months and one of the common threads is the necessity of employers to offer unique and robust benefits as a retention tool for staff. Repeatedly Student Loan relief is highlighted as a benefit employers can offer, and yet only 8% do (according to the 2023 Society for Human Resources [SHRM] Employee Benefits Survey). The Board deserves to be proud of its innovative decision to provide education assistance that extends to helping with crippling student loan debt. GCPLD is investing in its staff's future. While we can't do much about record inflation and limited and unaffordable housing, we can help with this while we're experiencing increased revenue without encumbering the District for years to come.

Thank you to our Board for their commitment to supporting our staff's education.

Staff Education and Development update:

We have two internal candidates for the Employee Development Coordinator position and look forward to filling this important position soon.

Fall is a busy season for professional conferences, and we were happy to send staff to a few instate conferences.

MARMOT held its annual User Group Conference (MUG) in Grand Junction on 9/28 - 9/29. Nine staff attended and had the opportunity to network with staff from other libraries and with the MARMOT staff. They attended training on understanding and leveraging AI in libraries, privacy and security, OverDrive, EBSCO, and more.

We also sent eight staff and four board members to the Colorado Association of Libraries annual conference (CALCON) from 10/12 – 10/14 in Loveland, CO. Staff attended sessions covering a range of topics that included information about how to better use data, literacy, leadership, senior programming, collection development, teen services, mentoring, how to be an employer of choice, trends for trustees, and much more. Our very own Jenn Cook presented two sessions, Library Materials to Offend Everyone: Tips for Selecting a Balanced (and Controversial!) Collection and Social Justice, Neutrality, Intellectual Freedom, and the ALA; and Jamie LaRue presented three sessions including: Library Trends for Trustees, Data to Light the Path to the Future, and Planning for Loss: When a Staff Member Dies.

We had five of our Hispanic Outreach Committee members attend the Colorado REFORMA conference in Denver on October 20. The conference focused on partnerships, outreach, and programming.

Recruiting and Staffing update:

The last 30 days have been fairly quiet with fewer departures and hires. Our HR Generalist, Melissa Terry, works diligently to seek out qualified candidates who meet the varied needs of each branch and expedite the hiring process to help the District stay staffed. We had a full-time Library Specialist vacancy at the New Castle branch and the community needed a Spanish-speaking staff member and we were able to hire a bilingual staff member.

One of our staff members at the Carbondale branch was unable to sustain in the unaffordable housing environment and ultimately had to resign from her position and relocate away from the area.

Branch Libraries Report, November 2023

By Nancy Barnes, Branch Libraries Director

Branch Staff Shine

Library staff recently attended the Association of Rural and Small Libraries (ARSL) in Wichita, Kansas, Marmot User Group (MUG) workshops in Grand Junction, and the Colorado Association of Libraries (CAL) annual state conference in Loveland. Staff shared their newly acquired knowledge with their coworkers at branch staff meetings and all-staff meetings.

New Castle Branch Manager Ana Gaytan recently led a presentation on serving the Hispanic community through programming at the REFORMA conference in Denver.

Branch Initiatives

At the Fall Staff Day, Jamie and Nancy launched the community interview process. Staff throughout the district are conducting community interviews in all six communities with a diverse group of stakeholders. The goal of the interview process is to create relationships with key stakeholders, learn about the issues most pressing to our communities, and find out about the aspirations of our communities. This data will help inform the district's future long-range plan as we learn where our expertise and the communities' values and concerns overlap. To date, district staff have conducted twenty interviews with a diverse group of stakeholders including non-profit directors, government employees, local business owners, law enforcement, physicians, a middle school principal and many more. The district's goal is to complete all community interviews by the end of November.

Branch libraries celebrated the freedom to read during Banned Book Week, October 1-7th with banned book displays both highlighting challenged or banned books and educating the community on the reasons why people challenge library books.

Program Success

Eclipse watch parties were a major success across our branch libraries. The number of attendees at our branches was staggering:

Carbondale: 200+ Glenwood: 200+ New Castle: 190

Silt: 200 Rifle: 250 Parachute: 90

New Castle patron, Sofia, enjoys the eclipse.

Fifty works of art created by members of the Glenwood Springs Art Guild are on display in the Glenwood branch. Centering around the theme, Fall in Love with Art, artists used watercolors, pastels, and other mediums to capture landscapes, pastoral scenes, and local landmarks. The community was invited to attend a reception with the artists on Friday, October 20th to celebrate their artistic accomplishments. The show will run through December 4th and the community is invited to vote on their favorite works of art.

Glenwood Art Guild display

The Glenwood branch, in partnership with Raising a Reader Aspen to Parachute, hosted an arts festival for local families. The approximately 250 attendees were able to enjoy story times, interact with children's book authors, create crafts, and make art in Rosybelle, a 1962 International school bus retrofitted as a mobile art classroom. Staff made 25 new library cards for community members during the festival, ensuring access for families to all the resources and services provided by GCPLD.

Rifle Library held several programs to celebrate Fall and Halloween. The Adult Crafting Circle made fall kitchen towels and oven mitts, teens gathered for a Spooky Movie Night, and the library held its annual Preschool Halloween Parade and Trunk or Treat. This is one of the library's biggest events each year. The library partnered with the Rifle Police Department to make the event bigger and better with the addition of the Trunk or Treat.

Parachute Library also celebrated the season with a Dia de los Muertos event, a pumpkin carving program and a trunk or treat event at the Bea Underwood Elementary School.

Community Outreach

Carbondale Youth Services Coordinator, Lauren, attended The Confluence Early Childhood Education (CECE) Coalition meeting, along with the Mountain Voices Project, Rocky Mountain Early Childhood Council, and Early Childhood Network, to brainstorm ways to improve access to early care and education in the Parachute to Aspen region. Attendees gave the library a standing ovation.

Stories of Impact

Silt Youth Services Coordinator, Paul, had a story time patron, who comes occasionally, tell Brenda that her grandson said that they needed to go to Silt's story time today because Mr. Paul was missing him.

Rifle Library held The Great Pumpkin Carve on Friday, October 13th, and had 90 people show up to carve pumpkins. It was a very messy endeavor, but well worth it to see all the happy families creating their works of art. A mother with three children thanked the staff profusely for having the event, stating that money was tight, and she appreciated being able to take her children to fun events.

Staffing

The Glenwood branch welcomed a dynamic and energized new addition to the team, Youth Services Coordinator Tahrea "Red" Millberry. Red's first day at the branch started with an introduction by Meghan and her pals, the Rocky Mountain Puppets, during the library's Wednesday SPARK program. Red comes to the branch with extensive experience working with children, from babies and toddlers to tweens and teens. Beyond her namesake locks, families will recognize Red, through her enthusiasm and interest in connecting with local families.

Parachute Library Specialists from Parachute Lizz Tillotson and Natalie Smith were recently promoted to Library Specialist II.

Library Card Signup Month

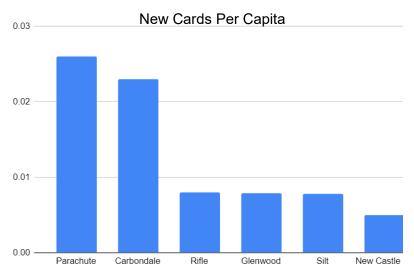

Since last month was Library Card Signup Month, this graph shows that the number of new library cards is very slightly up from 2022, as well as the number of items added to the collection. The total number of new library cards created in September was 410, which is 11% above the monthly average of 368.

New Patrons and New Materials

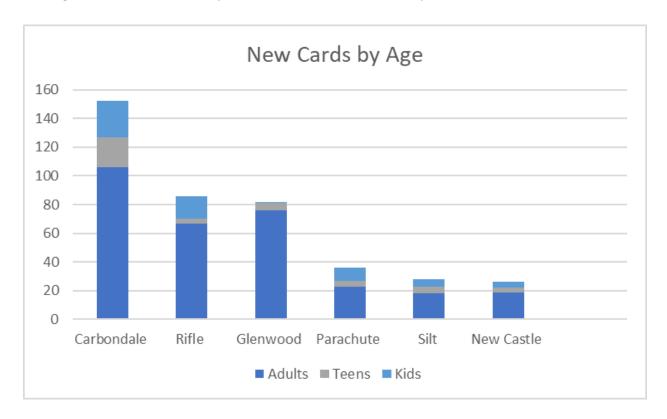

Also, looking at the number of library cards created in September by branch in terms of a per capita calculation tells a surprisingly different story than the raw numbers do.

Carbondale	152
Rifle	86
Glenwood Springs	82
Parachute	36
Silt	28
New Castle	26

Finally, here is the breakdown of new library cards created in September by age. By far, at every branch, the largest number of new library cards are created for adults. People do still use libraries!

Marketing report, October 2023

James Larson, Communications and Marketing Director

October Recap

The last 4 weeks have been an up-and-down emotional time for Marketing and the whole district. We all know what has been going on with the threats of censorship, so I'd like to focus on some of the good things for you. As detailed in Alex's Events Report, September and the first half of October have been happily busy. Here is a recap of some of the big, fun events and programs:

- 2nd Annual Hispanic Heritage Festival-Sept 24th thank you to my fellow Hispanic Outreach Committee members for their devotion to making this festival an enormous success. An incredibly special thank you to Crystal for emceeing the event!
- Grand unveiling of the Good of the Hive
- Farewell tour of Megan, a true friend of the library, and her Rocky Mountain Puppets
- 1st Annual Pirate Day at the Parachute Branch
- September Library Card Signup month
 - o The total number of new cards for the month was 410 (11% above the monthly average of 368).
 - Carbondale 152
 - Glenwood 82
 - New Castle 26
 - Parachute 36
 - Rifle 86
 - Silt 28

I also recently enjoyed joining other Hispanic Heritage Committee members at the REFORMA conference at the University of Denver. Ana gave a fantastic presentation on her successes at the Posada holiday event at the New Castle branch. Going into the conference I thought that we were not doing enough for our Hispanic Communities. Proudly, I can say that our library district is leaps and bounds above other state libraries in our programming for, collections for, and outreach to the Hispanic community in Garfield County. Others are learning from us!

Stay tuned for GCPLD ads in the soon-to-launch Colorado River Neighbors' new monthly magazine that particularly represents down valley – Rifle, Silt, and Parachute.

Website – we are in the final stages. Recently there has been final back and forth about content and functionality. The next stage will be testing of the new site, then launch in November or January. Probably not December due to the holiday activities.

Outreach

• The Raising a Reader Children's Art and Literacy Festival was cohosted by the Glenwood Springs Branch on 10/7 - another fantastic success for 130 children and 109 adults for 76 families. We are already planning the event for Oct 12th of 2024.

Freedom to Read event

I was filled with hope for the future when I read Roaring Fork High School Junior Gus Richardson's Op Ed in the Sopris Sun last week. I met Gus outside of the Carbondale library after a Library Board meeting that was "sabotaged" by a mob of adults behaving badly. Gus attended the meeting as a journalism assignment for his high school English class. The group wanted certain books in the adult section either removed from the library or made difficult to check out.

After the meeting Gus interviewed people outside the library. Like Gus, many of us had never seen behavior like this in our library. These were full-grown, red-faced adults shouting, accusing and belittling library board members and anyone else who didn't agree with them. Great adult role-modeling for young Gus, eh?

If you haven't read Gus's Op Ed, you should. Go to http://www.soprissun.com and search for "Library Controversy, A Youth's Perspective."

I agree with Gus that libraries should remain places unencumbered by censorship or book bans.

Atta boy, Gus. I hope you got an "A" on that assignment and I look forward to seeing your "byline" in the future.

By the way, I'm attending the "Freedom to Read" event at the Ute Theater in Rifle at 6 p.m. Oct. 18. If you care about the future of our libraries please plan to attend this important event.

Garfield County leaders tell library to keep "pornographic materials" away from kids in latest salvo over Japanese graphic novels

County commissioner acknowledges directive can't be enforced — but notes library board can be fired

By ELIZABETH HERNANDEZ | ehernandez@denverpost.com | The Denver Post PUBLISHED: October 19, 2023 at 6.00 a.m. | UPDATED: October 19, 2023 at 6.03 a.m.

Garfield County's elected commissioners this week directed the county's library board to ensure "pornographic materials" aren't accessible to children at public libraries and can't be checked out by young people.

How the commissioners would enforce that order — the latest flare-up in a fight over library materials in the Western Slope county — and how the county even defines pornography were unclear when the board voted unanimously to approve the message Monday.

Commissioner Tom Jankovsky acknowledged in an interview with The Denver Post on Wednesday that the Garfield County Public Library District's Board of Trustees is an independent body that doesn't have to follow the county's directive. But, he said, "the reason that motion was made is because we do have the ability to remove all board members from the library board."

The commissioners "don't want to go there," Jankovsky said, but it is an option

James LaRue, executive director of the Garfield County Public Library District, has received calls over the last year for select adult Japanese graphic novels — some with LGBTQ themes — in the county's libraries to be stored on a top shelf away from children. Some people have requested the library check the IDs of patrons borrowing those books to ensure they're over 18.

LaRue called the commissioners' directive "political intimidation." He said there is no legal definition of pornography and that, historically, the term has been used to describe all kinds of titles, from "The Grapes of Wrath" to children's books about where babies come from

Garfield County's library does not intend to move the books out of reach, LaRue said, because the facility is not in the business of preventing people from reading.

The contested books include the Japanese manga-style series "The Finder" and "Prison School."

"There is a keen interest in manga," LaRue said. "Manga has a huge continuum of content. This was requested by a member of our public, and that's what we do as a library."

LaRue said the library district had no record of a child checking out one of the graphic novels — until recently, when a mother opposed to the books brought her child to the library and checked one out under the child's name to prove that it's possible, he said.

"it's very easy to not allow access to what I would consider pornographic," Jankovsky said during Monday's public meeting. "I haven't read the book, but I have read the letters to the editor and seen the graphics supplied to me by opponents of this. The graphics are not only pornographic but sadistic, masochistic, pedophilic — I don't know if I used the right term on that one, but children shouldn't be able to get those items."

LaRue assembled a committee of library staff from different branches who have read the books to determine whether the graphic novels should be retained, reclassified or removed. So far, LaRue said, his staff has recommended to keep the books as they are.

The decision has divided the county with some supporting the library's stance to keep books accessible and others — including the three county commissioners — arguing the library has a responsibility to protect children from what they deem "pornographic" materials.

After voting to approve the directive, the commissioners asked County Attorney Heather Beattie during the public meeting whether they were setting themselves up for a First Amendment battle over the definition of pomography.

Beattie said defining what constitutes pornography would be difficult and would likely end up being litigated in court

LaRue said once he receives the paperwork confirming the directive, he'll be contacting a lawyer

The directive came after the three Garfield County commissioners decided not to appoint sole candidate Hanna Arauza — a local scientist, community organizer and mother whose resume said she frequents the library — to the Garfield County Libraries Board of Trustees after the library board voted to appoint her.

"I thought we were going to appoint a wonderful board member during this meeting and that it was not going to be a controversial thing," LaRue said. "The board has always appointed people without issue in the past."

Commissioners asked Arauza whether she would make pornographic materials inaccessible to children at the library. Arauza told them she believes parents are responsible for monitoring what their children are reading.

The commissioners said they wanted input on Arauza's appointment from the community at a public forum scheduled for Wednesday evening in which Garfield County residents would be asked to share their thoughts in favor of or against restrictions to library materials.

"It's frustrating because this shouldn't be a political thing," Arauza said in an interview. "It's a non-political appointment to a volunteer position on the library board, but the heads of our county have made it political."

Republican Commissioner Mike Samson noted during the meeting that Arauza's husband, Steven Arauza, was running as a Democratic contender for Samson's seat in the 2024 county commissioner election.

During Monday's meeting, commissioners inquired whether the library board refusing to abide by county directives could meet the threshold to disband the entire library Board of Trustees

The county attorney said library trustees could be removed under specific circumstances such as committing willful misconduct or negligence of duty

"What they're trying to do is say, "We told the library board what to do and we're the presiding officers and, therefore, we have now given ourselves an excuse to fire the lot of them,' LaRue said. "I would describe that as a political threat, as political intimidation."

The commissioners applicated to Hanna Arauza at the conclusion of this portion of the meeting, saving they were sorry she was "caught in the crosshairs."

During the meeting, the resident who made the original complaint against the Japanese graphic novels spoke and offered to show the public images from the books that he opposed.

"It makes me sad that something like these books we have had for over a year that no one read except for the person who requested them (have) become the focus of the life of the library," LaRue said. "There's a potential legal battle on the horizon, and for what? Protecting children they don't have from books they haven't read."

YOUR LETTERS

Thanks to Garfield County libraries for curating diverse collections

Garfield County libraries, while providing a diverse catalogue of information/offerings to all patrons with clear delineation of genre, content, and interest, operates in accordance with the American Library Association Bill of Rights (1939) and is guided by the Library Code of Ethics. As such, we as citizens are tasked with engaging responsibly with an intellectual freedom uncomplicated by digital algorithms and corporate influence.

Recent discussions about removal and restricted access to certain library books has brought to light two problematic issues: interest in trending toward a more homogeneous catalogue and a question as to whether our populace is able to handle the freedoms enjoyed in the individual pursuit of knowledge.

I believe that it is the stitching together of this intellectual liberty and conscious engagement, on the part of both the library district and its users, that forms the keystone to a strong community. It allows for a spectrum of free offerings beyond books, ranging from community access to technology (computer/wifi), the mobile Colorado Workforce Center, or town hall venues to instruction in Tai Chi and English language acquisition, not to mention a multitude of story hours; all of which contribute to the fabric of our county.

I for one stand strong with the Garfield County library system's respect for content curation and public voice. I also believe that diversity in authorship and subject matter are integral to intellectual growth. Responsible investigation leads to innovation, empathy, and resilience.

Keep our communities curious.

After will bring balanced, thoughtful leadership to RFSD board

I am writing in support of Betsy After's candidacy for District B of the Roaring Fork School District Board of Education. I had the pleasure of serving on the Mount Sopris Montessori Preschool Board during Betsy's tenure as the board president. I found her to be an engaged, knowledgeable, and effective leader. She successfully steered the school through the academic and financial challenges of COVID and a corresponding leadership change.

I recently spoke with Betsy about her candidacy for school board and was impressed. She demonstrated deep knowledge of the RFSD's most urgent challenges (i.e. teacher retention, fiscal responsibility, improved communication) and the skills and motivation to address them. She is eager to utilize her strengths to serve students, teachers and our broader community. With two young children in district schools, she is committed to serving the district over the long-term.

The RFSD needs balanced, thoughtful leaders like Betsy to ensure that all students

Re: Mature Content

Last week, I read an article about a man who was arrested for domestic violence; he was shocked because he thought it was his right to beat his woman. A few years ago, I saw a police officer friend of mine and I asked him how it was going. He said that 30 years ago, they had domestic violence reports about once per year, but now it's once per week.

After decades of studying human behavior and years of counseling people who had suffered various forms of abuse and perpetrators who felt like victims, I was actually surprised that I was even surprised to read an opinion by a man who read "stories about men raping women and women learning to love being raped. Even women who weren't raped in those stories loved a good roll in the hay, so much that they would do anything for, and put up with anything from, the men who rolled with them." He found "those stories exciting" but that was okay because he didn't grow up to be a rapist.

Imagine what such stories teach young men about how to treat women. Of course, censoring them would be a waste of time because anyone with access to a computer can find whatever they want online or at the Garfield County libraries because the executive director, Jamie LaRue, says those stories are meant to be funny. They are "comic" books, after all.

Manga books in Garfield libraries are a drop in the worldwide bucket. Throughout history, it's been fine with certain men in cultures all over the world to beat, rape and murder women, and they usually get away with it. I recently read an article about an 11-year-old girl who was charged with child trafficking because some man tricked her into sending explicit photos of herself. This is common because victims of sexual assault and abuse (including children who are trafficked or forced into prostitution) are often criminalized. Why criminalize the victims and not the perpetrators?

And that's the world we live in. They say no snowflake in an avalanche feels responsible. That said, I am very grateful every day for those who dedicate their lives to helping people and even saving lives.

OPINION

Guest Opinion

By Gus Richardson

On Thursday, Sept. 10, I had the opportunity to attend a local library board meeting. I was very excited to do so for three key reasons: 1) I got out of math class, 2) I'd never been to a library board meeting before and 3) the topic being discussed directly pertained to me.

They were discussing two
"questionable" manga, those being graphic novels from the "Prison School" and "Finder" series. These books were being brought up due to the fact that they contain sexual content that some people find problematic for a book
(allegedly) marketed toward children.

This I understood! I'm always a bit cautious around restricting books, but this seemed fair. If the content found within these books was truly sexual and truly being marketed to young children, I think that it's a great idea to move that to a more adult section.

However, once I heard the Library controversy: A youth's perspective

opposition's argument and more of the facts, my opinion quickly changed. I learned over the course of the meeting that these books were in fact not in the kids' section, but were instead put there by said opposition, with one ambitious member of this group bothering library-goers and forcing children to look at the images. I also learned of the opposition's request to segregate these books into a special, age 18+ room which a customer would need to present some form of identification to enter. They claimed that if their demands weren't met, they would instead petition for the library to remove these books from the shelves.

As a 16-year-old, this information was beyond upsetting. Why should a group of older adults who don't know me or care about me get to decide what I can read? These are adults parenting children they'll never meet. These are adults screaming out their opinions, with speakers having to be cut off for refusing to obey the rules of the public meeting and the entourage exclaiming their beliefs during other people's time. These are adults placing themselves as just crusaders, and much like the crusade, caring not for those hurt in the process. These are adults acting like the children they claim to protect.

When we ban books, we ban experiences, knowledge and information. We cannot quarantine or destroy that which we don't agree with. When the Nazis burned library books en masse, we saw that as an atrocity. Why would anyone limit the opportunity for knowledge in such a permanent and primitive way? Yet Americans today fight to do that very same thing by banning books.

After this meeting, I was pretty depressed for a good few days. The disappointment I felt was immeasurable when all these people put so much passion into forcing their opinions on a captive audience. The lack of love for our fellow human beings I observed was crushing. I remember returning home feeling as though I had lost some faith in humanity.

But once I reflected on the meeting over the coming week, I remembered all the quieter speakers, who calmly but firmly shared their position with the audience. Who, when even I personally disagreed with them, were still kind and understanding of the opposing side. So I want to leave this piece with a message: no matter how hard it seems, no matter how much ridicule they gain for it, the intelligent, the well-spoken and the loving will always win over the loud, the abrasive and the hurtful in the end. And we must fight to make this claim ring true, as I don't want to live in a world where it doesn't.

Facilities October Report

Jon Medrano, Facilities Manager

The Facilities Department oversaw many projects and repairs. The following are worthy mentions from the Facilities Department from the month of October.

Library Reconfiguration for Parachute & New Castle Branches - UPDATE

The Facilities Manager is currently engaged with local general contractors to obtain quality bids. No proposals have been received at this time; however, communication is still ongoing. Once GCPLD acquires valid bid proposals, The Facilities Manager will present a vendor recommendation to the Board of Trustees. The project committee has done an incredible amount of planning and strategizing thus far. More updates to follow as this large district project continues.

Boiler Replacement for Rifle Branch Library

The Rifle Branch library received a new boiler when the older one was found leaking in the storage closet of the MAD Lab. No damage building damage was done since it was a small amount of water. The Facilities Manager worked with a local plumbing company to address this issue and replace it.

FOB System Repair for Glenwood Springs, New Castle & Silt Branch Libraries

The Facilities Manager worked with a door company from Denver to address an FOB System issue at the Glenwood Springs, New Castle, and Silt Branch libraries. A small piece of equipment called a Lantronix needed to be replaced at all said libraries. It allows communication from the host computer to each library's FOB System panel so any changes like issuing a few key fobs for an employee can be done. Now that a new Lantronix device has been installed the system is operating as normal at these library locations.

Window Repair at Carbondale Branch Library

A local window company was contacted to address and repair shifting pieces of window glass at the Carbondale library. Over the course of time, some windows on the east side of the building in the children's area shifted creating small gaps between the windows and the frame. Thankfully, the Carbondale staff was able to notice and create a work order. The repair has now been made and the windows are back to being weatherproofed.

Backflow Inspection for Carbondale Branch Library

The Facilities Manager collaborated with a company to complete the backflow inspections at the Carbondale library. This is an annual inspection to ensure that backflow equipment is functioning as normal. A copy of the report will be sent over to the Town of Carbondale for their records.

New District Display Furniture

The Facilities Manager received a detailed list of needed display furniture for the district libraries. Upgrading to better-quality displays will help increase circulation. Other items such as chairs and reading tables will replace those that are outdated and worn for patrons to better enjoy.
